REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

For the Year Ending February 15, 1913.

We have maintained nine schools, each having an equal length of thirty-one weeks, with three weeks extra for No. 1, from the Philbrick fund.

The teachers we employed have been earnest in their labor, and in most of the schools good results have been obtained.

Much depends upon the teacher employed. We have exercised our best judgment in regard to this, and with one or two exceptions have been fortunate to obtain good teachers. The relationship between teachers and pupils has been pleasant, and where any unpleasantness has occurred the cause has been with the parents, rather than the teacher or pupils.

Some of our experienced teachers have taught the same schools for several terms, which is sufficient proof that their work has been appreciated by both parents and pupils.

It would be good policy for parents and others to visit the different schools. They would then have a better idea of the work that is being done in the schools, and we firmly believe that it would be a great help to both teacher and pupil to do better work, and perhaps less criticisms would be made.

Irregularity of attendance is another cause of unsuccessful schools. Parents are at fault in allowing this evil to exist. When the scholar neglects his school without the very best of reasons he not only refutes the advantages placed within his grasp, but ignores the great privileges from which he should gain the greatest blessings of his life.

You cannot expect a child that goes to school one day and stays at home the next to profit as much as a pupil that attends school every day. Too many parents do not realize what an injury it is to the school and to the child by irregular attendance.

FRITZ E. KALLENBERG,
A. M. CHASE,
F. E. STEVENS,

School Board.
